Turmchalet in Prags

A feel-good experience on the Pragser Wildsee lake – whatever the weather.

The architecture of the Hotel Turmchalet, situated on the Pragser Wildsee lake, successfully interprets the link between modern and traditional. The unique landscape scenarios and contemporary design merge into a harmonious unity. The surrounding peaks appear close enough to touch through the wide window façades, while creating spaces of well-being.

Window walls, windows of aluminium and uPVC, conservatories: the slender lines and easy-care surfaces ensure both generous light incidence and minimal maintenance. Whether in sun, heat, rain, hail or snow: the high-quality frame profile sealing and uPVC in the core always mean outstanding insulation. The aluminium exterior, in Anthracite grey, is resistant, stable in shape and durable. The rapid, professional management of the project - from consultation through to problem-free installation of the products - meant that the hotel was ready to open for the holiday season.
